Profile

Erin earned her Doctorate of Physical Therapy Degree from Briar Cliff University in Sioux City, Iowa following completion of her undergraduate studies at The University of Iowa. Although she is skilled in many areas of Physical Therapy, Erin specifically is interested in Vestibular Therapy, Post-Concussion treatment, and Sports Rehabilitation. Erin has completed extensive training in dry needling, blood flow restriction therapy, and SASTM. Most recently, she became a Certified Fall Prevention Specialist, which allows her to help patients prevent and avoid falls through comprehensive assessment and effective interventions aimed at restoring balance, mobility, and function.

When not in the clinic, Erin loves to spend time with her family and friends, travel, and work out regularly. Erin is a life-long Northern Illinois native & is thrilled to join the IBJI team at Glenview.
