Profile

Diana Page, PT has been practicing orthopedic physical therapy for over 28 years. Originally a native of Ohio, Di was a PTA for 13 years at a highly regarded sports medicine clinic in Dayton, Ohio. During her time there, she treated a variety of orthopedic diagnoses and injuries for high school, college, professional and recreational athletes. Di decided to further her education and earned her bachelors degree in physical therapy at the University of Cincinnati in 2001. She moved to the Chicago area and joined the Illinois Bone & Joint Institute team in Gurnee in January 2003.

Di enjoys treating a variety of patients with non-surgical and surgical orthopedic diagnoses including those with sports injuries and work-related injuries. She combines manual therapy, therapeutic exercise and functional strengthening movements to help patients reach their optimal level of performance. Di has built strong relationships with the IBJI physicians and staff. She believes patient education and collaboration between the patient, therapist and physician are the key to the most successful outcome for each patient.

Di's lifelong involvement and love of sports led her into the field of physical therapy. In her spare time, she loves spending time with her family and friends, running with her dogs, watching sports and traveling.
