

Illinois Bone & Joint Institute Workers' Compensation Philosophy Statement

At Illinois Bone & Joint Institute (IBJI), our physicians and healthcare professionals approach the workers' compensation patient like we do all of our patients.

- The injured worker will receive superior orthopedic care based on evidence-based practices.
- Conservative treatment, when appropriate, will always be the first option.
- The injured worker will never be required to have excessive examinations, imaging or treatments.
- Illinois Bone & Joint Institute does not dispense in-house prescription medications.
- IBJI physicians strive to get the employee back to safe work duty as soon as medically appropriate.

Our collaborative care model, which fosters communication among all healthcare providers, is the key to an efficient and economical recovery.
