

Joe Hanley, PT, DPT, MHA

Physical Therapist, Facility Manager

2923 N California Ave, Suite 301
Chicago, IL 60618

T (773) 327-5639

F (773) 327-5358

jhanley@ibji.com

Profile

Joe Hanley, PT, DPT, MHA has been practicing with an orthopedic interest since his graduation from Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science in 2014. He is pleased to be able to provide musculoskeletal care to IBJI patients in the city of Chicago.

Joe appreciates challenges and enjoys evaluating and treating a wide variety of orthopedic and musculoskeletal injuries. He takes a comprehensive approach to patient care, while focusing on a return to functional activities with an emphasis on patient specific goals. One of the reasons Joe enjoys working at IBJI is the inter-professional environment that fosters and encourages collaboration between professionals at all times.

When not working, Joe enjoys playing or watching sports, and watching classic movies. His favorite sport is basketball, and he enthusiastically cheers on his Fighting Illini at all times. He enjoys running enough that he has run the Chicago Marathon twice. Joe grew up in a big family, and he still loves going back home to spend time with them often.

Education

- Doctor of Physical Therapy - Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science, 2014
- Master of Health Administration - Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science, 2014
- Bachelor of Science in Kinesiology – University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign, 2011