Profile

Steven Hullana, PTA began his career in Physical Therapy in 2012 working as a rehab tech. He joined the IBJI family in 2016 where he continued to work as a rehab tech in Grayslake which ignited his passion to pursue his PTA degree. In addition, he also assisted in the Return to Play Phase 4 program at the Libertyville Sports Complex.

He earned his BA in Dance from The University of Iowa where he participated in all styles of dance, but specialized in hip-hop and modern. He continued his education at Gateway Technical College where he earned his AAS in Physical Therapist Assistant and graduated with President's Honors and acted as PTA club president.

Steven has developed his skills in both outpatient and inpatient settings and is eager to learn new techniques, acquire knowledge from continuing education courses, and grow as a clinician in order to achieve optimum patient care for all. Steven believes that physical therapy should be treated as a holistic approach, which focuses on the health of the entire body and mind and not just parts of the body in order to achieve a functional and healthy life.
